September 9th, 2006 — Each year the United Negro College Fund honors an outstanding entertainer from the African American Community and this year they have elected to recognize the "Queen of Soul," Aretha Franklin for her contributions to entertainment and the community.

Amenity rubbed shoulders with celebrities as the official grooming product for the bash honoring Aretha Franklin, landing in the hands of a host of celebrities who partied with Aretha at Hollywood's landmark Kodak Theatre including Smokey Robinson, Ruben Studdard, Michael Bolton, Chaka Khan, Derek Luke, Michael Clark Duncan, Tyra Banks, Dule Hill, Shemar Moore and Courtney B Vance.
